

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A liquid crystal module. A flexible circuit board has an insulated substrate formed by a plurality of openings, with a plurality of lead wires enclosed by the insulated substrate and exposed by the openings. An LED and a Zener diode are coupled to the lead wires through the openings, such that the size of the flexible circuit board is reduced.